

CONTEMPORARY ART JEWELLERY

Press Release

1X1 Collective

31.05.12 - 30.06.12

Margherita de Martino Norante (IT) and Eugenia Ingegno (IT), Elinor de Spoelberch (BE), Youngbin Park (Corée), Marina Elenskaya (RU) (prix Talent, Schmuck 2012, Munich), Eunjae Baek (Corée), Sungho Cho (Corée) et Yoko Shimizu(JP).

1x1 is a project born to promote and diffuse contemporary art jewelry through exhibitions, fairs, and events.

It starts in Florence from an idea by Margherita de Martino Norante and Eugenia Ingegno as an open and ever-changing collective of independent jewelry artists. Artistic and technical research and the freedom of experimentation make the jewelry gain new functions and meanings.

1x1 is open to collaborations, in the jewelry field as outside, to find new ways for showing original works to a wider public.

1x1 changes its shape, leader and location following each project. It is an informal group of people based on active involvement, cooperation and sharing of ideas, knowledge and skills for the common goal of understanding and being understood. For this exhibition at Vander A gallery in Brussels, we present 8 international artists, very different one from the other.

There is not a theme because we want to focus on each artist's personal approach and research, we believe that each one's individuality and autonomy is one of the strenght of contemporary art jewelry and that it gets highlighted through the free dialogue of a collective exposition.
